

Our Vision

For practitioners to consistently embrace those incredible imaginations, in a happy environment both indoors and out, sparking curiosity. A persistent focus on teamwork and wellbeing, promoting self-regulation.

Mission Statement

We passionately believe in the 'Curiosity Approach'. This approach is a modern day approach to Early Years taking parts from Reggio, Steiner, Te Whariki and a sprinkle of Montessori.

Calm neutral colours form the basis of our setting and uncluttered spaces. Rooms are set up with thoughtfulness taking into account the senses of children and adult alike. We use a 'planning in the moment' approach to learning, allowing the children to lead the way based on their interests and passions.

How?

Imagination - Children engage with the wonder of their own incredible imaginations, storytelling, and role play, and this is carefully encouraged through the thoughtful provocations and environments that have an air of mystery and magic.

Happiness - Ultimately happiness is of the utmost importance for anyone. We promote a 'home from home' environment enabling children to feel safe and secure in our care. We embed a culture of kindness and acknowledge our role as practitioners which is to ignite passion, magic, awe and wonder. A smile goes a long way!

The Great Outdoors - To support children with their ongoing interests, we spontaneously explore different areas of our local community. We also bring nature indoors to continually stimulate children's senses.

Curiosity - We ignite natural curiosity by providing authentic resources and magical learning environments. We support children's schematic learning by allowing them to explore freely and providing an array of loose parts.

Teamwork - Teamwork is at the heart of everything we do. Practitioners share enthusiasm in supporting children's development. We are respectful and honest to one another and consider others and their feelings. Teamwork makes the dream work.

Self-regulation - Adults and young children develop self-regulation through warm and responsive relationships. We support all to manage emotions, develop a positive sense of self whilst having confidence in their own abilities.
